Ranking Methodology

Rankings are based on the following factors for undergraduate cosigned loans in 2022:

- 1) average weighted interest rates
- 2) Loan application approval rate
- 3) The lender offers pre-qualified loan terms (no credit impact)

*93.8% of the total private loan volume processed in 2022 was for cosigned loans

The loan terms offered by lenders change frequently and will depend on your individual circumstances. Borrowers are encouraged to compare offered rates and terms from multiple lenders² before finalizing a loan application.

The table below provides more detailed rankings by loan type for loans made in 2023

In addition to credit approval, lenders may have other requirements (ex. satisfactory academic standing, enrollment in an eligible program, current enrollment status etc.) that Drake must certify for the lender. Even if your credit is approved, your loan may be denied if the lender later determines that you are ineligible for the loan.

¹ This is not a complete list of private education loan lenders, and it is possible you could find better terms from another lender. You may borrow from any lender of your choosing.

² The following lenders offer prequalified loan terms that do not affect your credit: ISL Education Lending, Citizens, College Ave, Nelnet, SoFi, Ascent.
